INTERVIEW WITH MS NG CHENG CHENG

By Bryan Lim

1. Could you share more about your upbringing in Malaysia and how your early life influenced your career journey?

I grew up in Malaysia, in a household that was deeply rooted in business. My father was a businessman, and from a young age, I was exposed to the world of commerce. Our residence was actually above a warehouse, so it was hard not to notice the day-to-day operations of running a business. During school holidays, I would accompany my father on his sales trips, and those experiences had a deep impact on me. I saw firsthand the importance of hard work, customer relationships, and the intricacies of running a business. This exposure naturally led me to study accounting and law, as I wanted to contribute to our family's international food trading business. These early experiences shaped the foundation of my career and my entrepreneurial journey.

2. Were there significant experiences or people during your early years that had a lasting impact on your career choices?

Yes, there were several key experiences. One moment that stands out is when I was 7 years old, and I saw my first faxed document. It was a pivotal moment for me, as I realised the power of technology and how it could assist businesses. This sparked my lifelong interest in technology. Another significant influence was my fascination with space. I was captivated by the story of Apollo 13, and during family holidays in the USA, I visited Boeing and NASA. These experiences left a lasting impact on me and, later in life, inspired me to venture into the field of satellite technology and space-related applications.

3. You have an impressive background in business, finance, and property development. Could you tell us what inspired you to venture into industries like international trade, technology, and food distribution?

My journey into these industries was a natural progression. Having been raised in a family business that dealt with international food trading, I developed a strong foundation in business and finance. My passion for technology, which started in childhood, evolved as I recognised how technology could enhance various industries. This ultimately led me to found Spacegen Sdn Bhd, a company that uses satellite remote sensing technology to provide innovative solutions for ecological monitoring, land deformation detection, and agricultural support. I always look for ways to blend my interests with opportunities that meet market needs, and this approach has guided my ventures into different sectors.

4. As a leader in multiple industries, how would you describe your management style? What do you believe are the essential qualities of a successful business leader?

I believe in a management style that combines respect, motivation, and hands-on involvement. A successful leader must not only focus on numbers but also on people—training, developing, and motivating them to achieve their best. I see leadership as earning the respect of your team through integrity, fairness, and guidance. It's essential to create an environment where people feel valued and empowered to contribute. I also believe in leading by example, showing commitment to the company's vision, and staying adaptable to change.

5. With your busy schedule managing multiple companies, how do you find time to unwind? What activities help you relax? What would a perfect weekend look like for you?

Balancing work and personal life is important to me. I find time to unwind through exercise—I play tennis and practice pilates regularly. These activities help me stay physically fit and mentally refreshed.

6. Artificial Intelligence is transforming many industries, including technology and data analytics. How do you see AI shaping the future?

AI is a game-changer for many industries. At Spacegen, we're already leveraging AI in our satellite technology to provide real-time data for ecological monitoring and land-use planning.

7. You have been recognised for your charitable efforts, particularly with the Orang Asli community during the pandemic. How important is philanthropy in your life, and how do you integrate it into your business activities?

Philanthropy is an integral part of my life and business philosophy. I believe that as business leaders, we have a responsibility to give back to society. During the COVID-19 pandemic, I organised a charity drive through MAYCHAM to support the Orang Asli community in Malaysia, benefiting 13,500 families. It was a reminder of how businesses can play a crucial role in addressing societal needs, especially in times of crisis. I integrate philanthropy into my business by ensuring that we maintain a commitment to social responsibility in every project we undertake. It's not just about profits—it's about making a positive impact on the communities around us.

8. What advice would you give to young entrepreneurs who are just starting out? How do you define success, both in business and in life?

My advice to young entrepreneurs is simple: have passion for what you do, and understand the market's needs. It's important to provide a service or product that is truly needed by people. Passion will drive you through the challenges, but understanding the market will ensure you're delivering something of value. Success, to me, is not defined by wealth or status. It's about having peace of mind.

“Unlocking Malaysia’s Economic Potential: Celebrating 50 Years of China–Malaysia Trade Relations”

A grand MAYCHAM event held at the JW Marriott, HK, to celebrate 50 years of fruitful collaboration between China and Malaysia; featuring Malaysia’s Minister of Investment, Trade and Industry, YB Datuk Seri Utama Tengku Zafrul Aziz as the keynote speaker. His presence underscored the ongoing, strong partnership between both Malaysia and China. After the gracious welcome speech delivered by MAYCHAM’s Chairman, Dato’ KC Gan, the event continued with distinguished addresses from our two esteemed Guest of Honours, Commissioner Cui Jianchun of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in HK, and Mr. Algernon Yau, Secretary of Commerce and Economic Development of HK. Both officials emphasised in their speeches the need to strengthen the continuous trading and investment relationship between Malaysia and China, further reinforcing the economics between both countries.

A major highlight of the event was an engaging fireside chat with Tengku Zafrul, moderated by Datuk Joseph Chee. The session offered insightful perspectives on the evolving trade dynamics between the two nations, as well as Malaysia’s serious industrial reform agenda which is paving the way for Malaysia’s second economic take-off, and great economic potential for foreign investors and business partners. Tengku Zafrul also highlighted how Malaysia could work more closely with China, and HK in particular, to reap the opportunities afforded by Malaysia that has managed to not only remain neutral, but also positioned itself strongly in key global industries such as semiconductors. Tengku Zafrul reiterated the country’s official stand on continued and active engagement with all its key trading and investment partners, a strategy that he believes will significantly boost growth in key sectors including aerospace, chemical, digital economy, E&E and pharmaceutical.

Following the insightful fireside chat, the event transitioned into a lively Q&A session where the audience, which comprises key business leaders of prominent organisations, local associations as well as other international chambers.

A variety of questions were raised about Malaysia's future economic direction, industrial reforms and trade policies. Addressing a question about Malaysia's investment strategy, an articulate and eloquent Tengku Zafrul emphasised that the country would prioritise investments that bring tangible benefits, such as the creation of quality jobs, positive spillovers for domestic companies, and encouraging foreign companies to integrate Malaysian firms into their supply chains.

When asked about the potential impact of rising geopolitical tensions, particularly between the US and China, Zafrul highlighted the need for Malaysia to remain neutral and independent in its foreign policy and acknowledged the concerns by stating that many tech companies have aimed to diversify their investments in ASEAN nations which is beneficial for Malaysia's economics.

The event was hosted by Miss Beh Yong Shin, a founding sponsor of MAYCHAM who also generously provided support for tables and other notable support by EXCO members, Miss Ng Cheng Cheng and Miss Jo An Yee. The Trade & Services Sub-committee was also in full attendance and support of the event and we wish to thank the deep support of Suria Zainal, Noah Azlan Ngah, Amir Fareed and the rest of the MITI team and last but not least, Fenn Ho and Iris Cheung from the MAYCHAM secretariat office. The session concluded with a strong sense of optimism and shared purpose, with both the speakers and the audience reaffirming the importance of continued engagement and collaboration between the two nations in unlocking their full economic potential along with a sumptuous feast of a Malaysian themed dinner followed by a Malaysian Mamak evening which delighted all participants. Tengku Zafrul also made time to autograph the book that he authored "Weathering The Economic Storm" which was available for sale during the event.

Field Trip To

CLP 中電

By Paul Buckland

MAYCHAM WIN's exclusive field trip to CLP was full of illuminating highlights and friendship.

It was an excellent opportunity to expand our knowledge into how Hong Kong SAR is powered in an increasingly environmentally friendly manner, and to peek into the history of the territory's rich heritage.

So popular was the event that it was oversubscribed, with 38 members gallantly taking on a full day field trip to Black Point Power Station. This unique opportunity was possible owing to May Tan, WIN sponsor and CLP board director.

On a beautiful autumn morning, the enthusiastic MAYCHAM WIN delegation got on a bus from JW Marriott Hotel with Chairman Dato Gan gracing us with his support as always. For some of us, getting on a fieldtrip bus from the centre of Hong Kong Island to the New Territories was in itself a wonderful experience, a chance to connect with WIN members and make new friends.

We arrived at Black Point Power Station and was met with the host contact Michael Ling, Company Secretary of CLP, and was treated to a presentation on CLP's decarbonisation efforts from management, led by Mr. KK Luk.

The main drive of the presentation was CLP's statement that they remain committed to phasing out coal by 2040 and achieving net-zero greenhouse gas emissions across its value chain by 2050. In order to do this, they are increasing their efficient gas-fired generation, maintaining their interests in nuclear power, and phasing down their coal generation units at Castle Point.

Nuclear energy supplies around a quarter of Hong Kong's power demand. CLP is a 25% stakeholder in Daya Bay Nuclear Power Station, located near Shenzhen, 50km from Hong Kong, which is celebrating its 30th year of operation this year. Around 80% of the plant's output supplies Hong Kong, and has the benefits of being stable baseload generation, while releasing no carbon into the atmosphere. CLP also has a 17% stake in the newer and larger Yangjiang Nuclear Power Station.

These new units will assist CLP in phasing down its Castle Point Power Station units, hence assisting CLP achieve their decarbonisation goals.

An interesting development project discussed was the ongoing efforts to run the gas units partially on hydrogen fuel. While this is a technically difficult undertaking, it is another way to help reduce carbon emissions from the gas fired units in CLP's fleet.

MAYCHAM members exchanged interesting questions followed by a site tour of the facility before we were treated to a delicious lunch hosted by Mr Kevin Lau, Senior Director, Generation.

After our bodies and minds were nourished over lunch and enjoyable conversation, we got back onto our bus and travelled to CLP Pulse.

CLP Pulse is the building that once served as the head office for CLP until 2012, and is now a cultural hub with three exhibitions that raise awareness of Hong Kong cultural heritage, sustainability, and CLP history.

There we had a guided tour of the exhibitions learning about electricity supply; a history lesson of our exciting city we call home.

As a finale we enjoyed coffee and snacks at a café hosted by Mr Joseph Law, Managing Director CLP Power. Dato Gan and May represented MAYCHAM and it was indeed a very special afternoon. By the end of the trip, members were filled with newfound knowledge of the heritage of Hong Kong and some of us members wanted to come back now we know we have a great museum like this in Hong Kong.

Special thanks to Michael Ling, CLP Company Secretary and also a MAYCHAM member, and the organising committee under the leadership of MAYCHAM WIN Sponsor May. Feedback from participants was extremely positive, with many "powered up" by the experience, ready for the next WIN trip!

Escape to Macau

2024 Sept 7-6

During the weekend of September 6-7, as Typhoon Yagi downgraded to T3 in Hong Kong, our "Escape to Macau" expedition adapted to the circumstances. Opting for cars over the ferry due to choppy waters and to ensure participants' comfort, we embarked on a unique border-crossing experience.

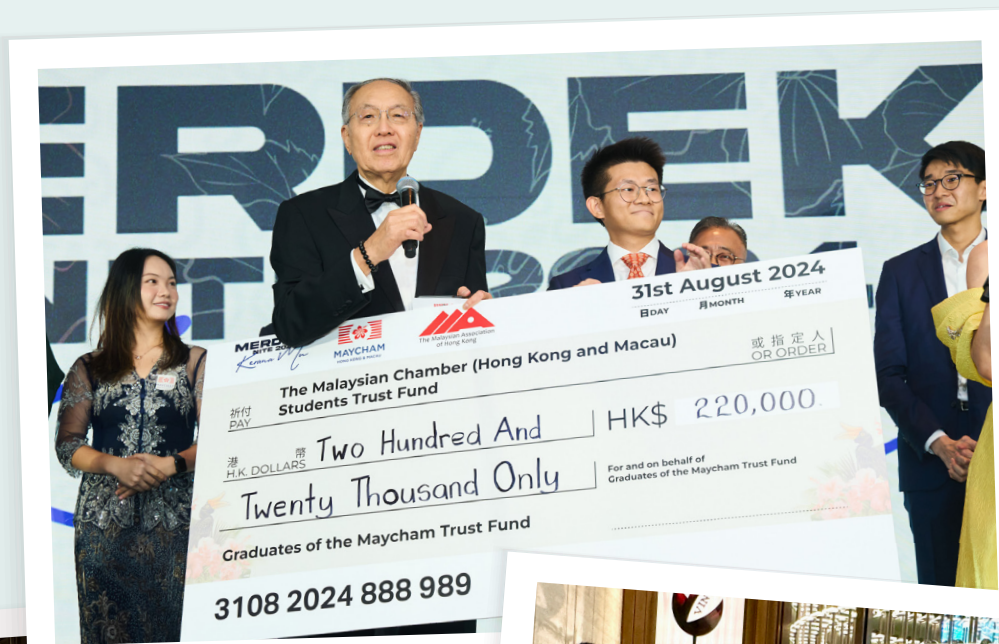

The journey began with an elegant Cocktail Reception at The Ritz Carlton, celebrating Malaysia's National Day and the 50th Anniversary of Diplomatic Relations with China. Following the reception, some of us settled in for the night at the luxurious Venetian and some opted for the charming Parisian in Macau, experiencing their distinct atmospheres and amenities.

The next day, we delved into the Lotus TV Tour, offering a glimpse into television production behind the scenes. This was followed by a visit to The Londoner, a themed hotel in Macau, where we immersed ourselves in its unique British charm.

Concluding with a delightful lunch hosted by Deputy Chair Mr. Kelvin Tan, the weekend wrapped up as we bid farewell to Macau and returned to Hong Kong. This journey amidst Typhoon Yagi created lasting memories and stronger bonds among the participants.

On 21 September, against the backdrop of resilience and gratitude, 19 graduates, once beneficiaries of the MAYCHAM Students Trust Fund (“STF”), united to proactively raised HKD220,000 for the Merdeka Nite. Their intentions were noble and threefold: to express gratitude for the invaluable support of STF; to extend a helping hand to students in need of financial assistance in Hong Kong and Macau; and to illuminate the pivotal role of STF in empowering individuals through education. Dato Gan, acknowledging and commending the students’ proactive endeavours, seized this moment to reconnect with these graduates. Immersing himself in their HK experiences, he sought firsthand insights into how STF had catalysed transformative journeys during their most challenging moments.

At the core of the recent donor luncheon lay a profound celebration of STF—a beacon of hope and empowerment for students in HK and Macau striving for financial aid to pursue their educational aspirations. Amidst the refined ambiance of the New World Millennium Hotel, Chairman’s Place, STF’s spirit shone brightly as Dato Gan and the dedicated graduates convened to honour its profound impact. Sprouting from humble origins, the fund has flourished into a vital lifeline for numerous individuals, embodying the ethos of giving back and fostering progress. As narratives unfolded among the attendees, the resonant theme of the STF’s transformative influence reverberated throughout the room. Donors shared heartfelt testimonies of how the fund not only relieved financial burdens but also paved the way for life-altering opportunities, encompassing overseas study programmes and career advancements.

Among these stories, Dun He’s journey stood out—a testament to resilience and determination in the face of adversity. His poignant narrative underscored the fund’s pivotal role in enabling him to carve a path towards a brighter future for himself and his family. Through moments of tears and triumphs, the luncheon served as a poignant tribute to the unwavering support and transformative impact of the STF—a testament to the enduring legacy of generosity and educational empowerment – Shyh Ping

Thank you for the invitation to the Appreciation Dinner following the successful Merdeka Nite 2024. It was a pleasure to be part of such a wonderful event, and I truly appreciate all the hard work that went into making it a success.

It brings me great joy to celebrate our collective journey - from being recipients of the student trust fund to becoming working professionals who can now give back to this noble cause. Our shared commitment to enhancing the welfare of Malaysian students in HK is both inspiring and purposeful.

I sincerely appreciate Dato for his thoughtful invitation to all the Grad Donors, including those who couldn't attend the luncheon.

Thank you once again for including me in this celebration. I can't wait to see everyone next year!
